

Shipping Your Ragdoll to You:

Do I ship?

Yes! When I ship the Ragdolls, I use a cat lady who will actually fly with your soon to be pet in the cabin. This is less stressful for the animal than if it were to fly in the belly of the aircraft. This way your pet will have the reassurance of human contact during the flight to you.

The shipping process goes like this:

1. Choose the kitten/cat
2. The animal is taken to the vet for a "Health Certificate" for his/her travel (If needed)
3. I purchase an airline approved travel carrier for your pet to travel in
4. Buyer pays me in full for the cat, health certificate, and travel bag.
5. Buyer signs and returns the Health Warranty
6. Once payment is received and cleared as well as the signed warranty, I begin setting up a shipment date with my carrier
  - a. I contact my carrier and see what dates she has available and what she will charge
  - b. I then contact you to agree upon a date and inform you of the charge
  - c. I confirm the date you have chosen with my carrier and wait to hear back from her with the flight information
  - d. Once I receive the information (Flight number, arrival time, carriers contact information, and where you are to meet the carrier at your local airport), I will relay that information onto you.
7. I meet with my carrier on the day of the flight with your kitten inside the airline approved travel bag at my local airport
8. I hand off the kitten to my carrier along with a kitten tie blanket, his/her current food, and some toys. I will also, at this time, give her your contact information
9. You then meet my carrier at your local airport at the designated location
10. Finally you pay the carrier's charge that I told you. This must be IN CASH
Now you have your kitten!!
